

14%

% of employees who say they drink more than the recommended weekly amount during the working week

16%

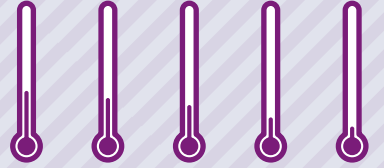

say they have taken at least one sick day in the last 12 months as a result of a hangover

15%

feel pressured by their colleagues to drink during the week

26% 24% 21% 10% 6%

18 to 24-year-olds 25 to 34-year-olds 35 to 44-year-olds 45 to 54-year-olds 55+

3%

drink more than 29 units during the working week

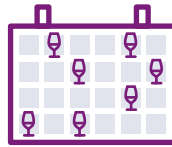

27%

say at least one hangover a month affects their productivity

Of workers who said they had taken at least one sick day in the last 12 months

3%

say they have at least 7 per month

51%

didn't admit they were absent due to a hangover to their employer

WillisTowersWatson

THE EFFECT OF ALCOHOL ON THE WORKPLACE

19%

say their employer contributes to unhealthy levels of drinking among staff

Just in 10

15%

say they went to work still feeling drunk after a night out in the last 12 months

25 to 34-year-olds - 24% 55s and over - 5%

Of workers who said they went into work still feeling drunk after a night out...

47%

say they drove there

57%

of higher earners vs

39%

of lower earners

say their company issues health advice on alcohol consumption

* UK Chief Medical Officers

Most under pressure Northern Ireland 38%

Least under pressure Wales 11%